RAPEFLOWER

RAPEFLOWER is an investigation that takes place in my own body. It is the body, not the discourse, in which the experience of sexual violence – ones own, inherited and learned – is interwoven with defense and survival strategies.

RAPEFLOWER

Rape is one of the most transcultural phenomena shared by women regardless of their ethnic identity or latitude. Rape is a weapon used to turn a person into an object. In this artistic research I situate myself as a rape survivor and as a yellow woman – a category borrowed from A.A.Cheng’s book “Ornamentalism”.

RAPEFLOWER is a story of rape understood as a psycho-somatic state, a movement practice of an object that is becoming a subject.
